LUMBERJANES

UNIFORMS FOR DRESS

Lumberjanes should always be presentable as they go out. Proper attire is important, as one must always be prepared for any circumstances.

The uniform should be made of a durable, flexible cotton shirt. The shirt should always be tidy and tucked. The pants should be made of a hard-wearing cotton twill. The pants should be a kilt, or pants (dependent on occasion).

Personal accessories should be kept aside from the required uniform, and if necessary, a raincoat in case of inclement weather or conditions.

In addition to attire, there are certain items that every scout should have with them at all times. A canteen of clean water, a honed knife, a map of any region she may be in, a compass, a raincoat, a small, sealed container of food, and matches are critical. Additional items that may be useful include a medical kit, an emergency whistle, a swatch of fabric that may be used as a tourniquet, a mending kit, soap, and a snack.

A prepared Lumberjane Scout will always carry herself with confidence, speaking with assertion, maintaining good posture, recalling her training, trusting her intuition, and being aware of her surroundings at all times.

Mal, Molly, what in the Joan Jett are you DOING?!

April, the only thing we found by the lake were gross spiders--

--So we came looking for you--

--Because the spiders were so gross--

But mostly because we couldn't find anything.

Just keep it down, will ya?

Yeah, this is a stealth mission, ya dweebs.

We're never going to figure this out if we can't even find--

AHHH OORRR

Looks like something found us instead.

Mal, what do you think?

Little Red formation?

April?

TO GRAND-MOTHER'S HOUSE WE GO!

Guys, that wasn't the... I mean... OK, this is happening. I guess.

MOLLY,
LOOK OUT!

WITAP

What--?

RRR RR

SWIPE!

Waaaaa!
